Wilson Sees Spending Up For Military

Budget To Be Higher
Next Year; No Cut
In Strength Planned

AUGUSTA, Ga., Dec. 7 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said after conferring with President Eisenhower today "it certainly looks" as though military spending next fiscal year will run higher than the 36 billion dollars estimated this year.

And Wilson told reporters he sees no prospect for "any substantial change" in the strength level of the armed forces, now at 2,800,000 men.

Wilson and administration fiscal experts spent 2½ hours with Eisenhower going over near final Pentagon plans reportedly calling for about 38 billion dollars in defense spending in the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Cabinet officer declined comment on the 38 billion figure, saying it would not be proper for him to do so at this stage. The President's budget for all government departments will go to Congress early next month.

Just before the parley got underway, at the Augusta National Golf Club, Eisenhower remarked to Wilson — with a clear show of irritation — that "leakage" of defense spending data and military manpower plans "is something that's got to stop."

Asked later whether he and Eisenhower had discussed that matter further, Wilson replied with a wry smile:

"No, I wouldn't bother the President about that. He would think that is my job."

But Wilson turned down newsmen's request for a formal news conference. However, he found them on hand when he got to the airport to return to Washington, and he willingly answered several questions.

LaMarca Given Death Penalty

MINEOLA, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—Angelo LaMarca was doomed to death by an all-male jury tonight for the July 4 kidnap slaying of baby Peter Weinberger.

The 12 men on the jury, all of them fathers, found the 31-year-old defendant guilty of kidnapping and also of first degree murder. They did not recommend mercy in either case, thus automatically condemning LaMarca to die in the electric chair.

LaMarca was standing erect as jury foreman John W. Connelly, 48, a father of four children, delivered the verdict. The jury had been out for six hours and 24 minutes.

The defendant's knees buckled and two court attendants seized him to keep him from falling to the floor.

His wife, Donna, 31, a frail brunette and herself the mother of two small children, collapsed and was carried from the courtroom. She had fainted a few hours earlier when the case went to the jury at the end of a month-long trial but had insisted on returning to the courtroom to hear the verdict.

Trial Judge Mario Pittoni scheduled the automatic sentencing of death for Dec. 14.

Becoming Father Rigorous Ordeal For This Man

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 7 (AP)—Becoming a father this week was a rigorous ordeal for John Henry Arends.

He suffered two broken teeth and required eight stitches on his face.

After an all-night vigil at the hospital, he rushed up to kiss his wife as she was wheeled from the delivery room. At the whiff of the ether, he passed out cold and landed on his face on the concrete floor.

Through swollen lips later he remarked: "You can't imagine what a father goes through."

High-Ranking Soviet Denied Italian Visa

ROME, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Italian government today dealt a humiliating diplomatic blow to Russia by canceling the entry visa of high-ranking Mikhail Suslov "in the interests of public order."

The slap in the face to Suslov, a secretary of the Soviet Communist party, came as he rolled through Eastern Europe in a train en route to address the Italian Communist party's 8th national congress opening here tomorrow.

The Italian government earlier had refused permission for Suslov to land here in a TU104 jetliner direct from Moscow.

The clear warning to Russia to keep its fingers out of the Italian political pie climaxed mounting anti-Soviet feeling in Italy.

Italians were appalled at Soviet ruthlessness in Hungary. Parades and anti-Soviet demonstrations followed the Budapest fighting in most of Italy's big cities.

Italian diplomats boycotted Russia's National Day reception here recently — sending only a minor protocol official to "sign the book." A nationwide celebration of "Soviet film week," a return gesture for an Italian film festival in the Soviet Union, was canceled by government order.

Slight, scholarly-looking 50-year-old Suslov is rated as the Kremlin's expert on relations with Communist parties abroad. There has been recent speculation that he visited Budapest and advised on suppressing the Hungarian revolt.

Suslov also is reported to have been in the faction of Kremlin leaders which sought to curb Soviet party boss Khrushchev's rapprochement with President Tito of Yugoslavia.

The decision to send such a heavyweight to speak at the Italian party congress lent weight to speculation that the Soviet is worried about keeping Italian party chief Palmiro Togliatti in line — and in the anti-Tito camp.

Beset by financial and membership worries, the Italian party has been looking more and more towards the "national type" of communism practiced across the Adriatic. Russia wants to keep the Italian Reds on her side, for with two million members it is the biggest party outside the Satellite sphere.

New Elections Set

NEW DELHI, Dec. 7 (AP)—Law Minister C. C. Niswas told Parliament today India's next general elections will be held in March 1957. Nearly two hundred million Indians are enrolled and a Home Ministry spokesman said two-thirds of them are expected to vote.

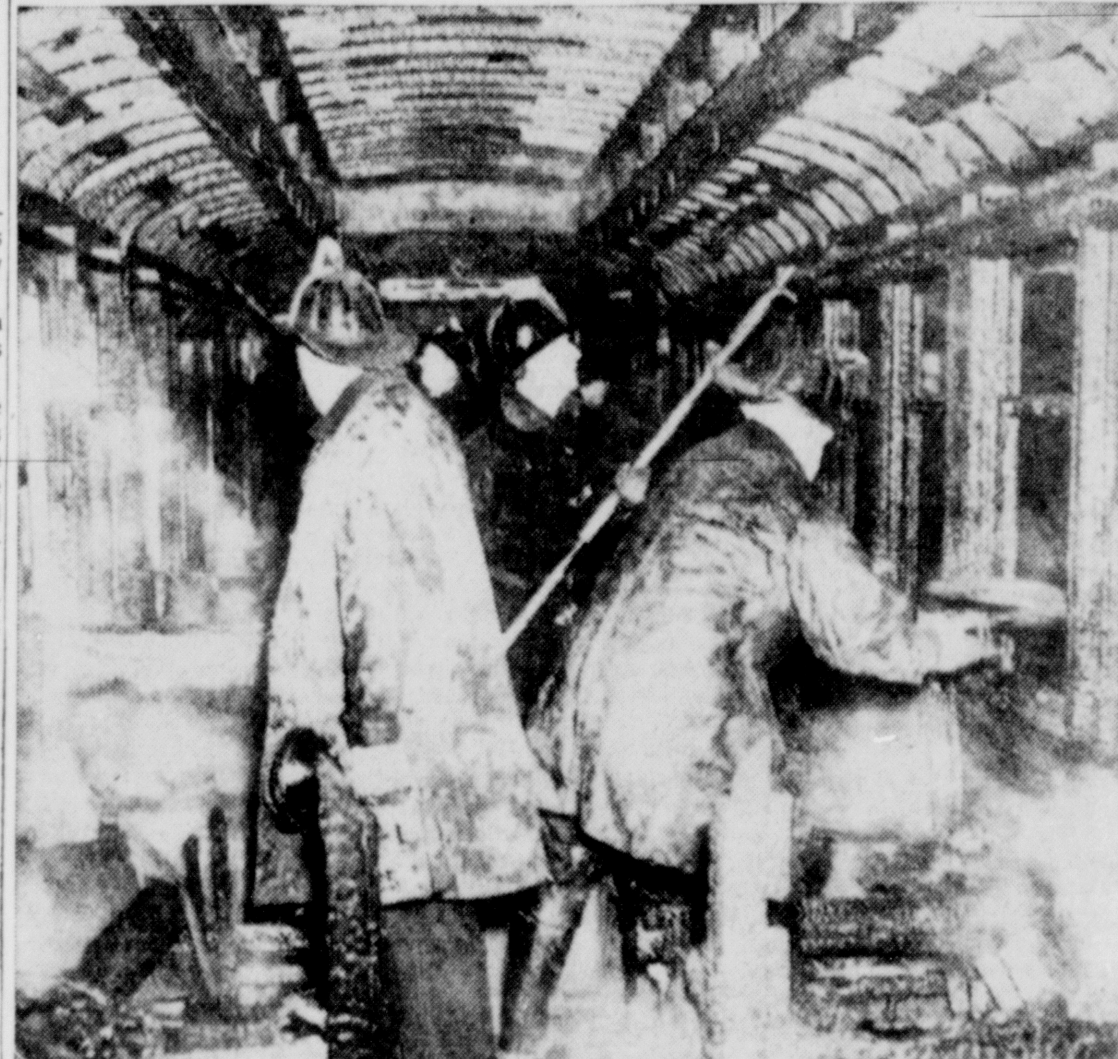

with shock and exposure and that he must have suffered a heart seizure before or after falling asleep in the back seat.

They said his shoes and hat were on the front seat and his coat had been crumpled up to serve as a pillow. He was found by his 27-year-old son Roy, Jr.

Miller, a part time bakery worker, was last seen by his wife and sons last Saturday morning. When police asked Miller how long he had been in the auto, he mumbled, "Saturday."

But Mrs. Miller, who had thought her husband was staying with his sister so he could be near a doctor who was treating him for a heart ailment, said he must have climbed into the car a day or two ago.

She pointed out that the automobile hasn't been able to run for some time and that its doors and windows were closed until she noticed them open slightly Thursday morning.

New Strikes Sweep Through Budapest

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 7 (AP)—New strikes and street fights swept Budapest today. Workers told the Russian-imposed government to quit jailing their leaders or face another outburst of violence.

The Central Workers Council issued a proclamation charging that continued jailing of leaders would end in "a general strike, bloodshed and a new national tragedy."

The workers demanded an answer by 8 p.m. over Budapest radio. The hour passed without the station mentioning the workers' statement.

A street fight broke out at almost the same site as Thursday's clash that took three lives by official account and 17 according to unconfirmed reports.

A Russian armored car stopped in the crowded area and picked up a young Hungarian. About 100 Hungarians immediately gathered around and began to argue.

Two more Russian cars stopped, but the crews were friendly and smiling. They drove off. Then the argument with the police started.

The whole Western Railway Station was soon surrounded by Hungarian police with tommyguns at the ready.

Police charged the crowd, swinging clubs and firing in the air.

"We were not demonstrating, we were not marching," said one

Hungarian. "We just stood here talking as we were going home."

"See here. That's a bump a Hungarian policeman's truncheon raised on my head. If these cops think this is the end of it they are mistaken."

"There are going to be things like this happening every day around here. We've got a right to stand in the streets and talk."

"These bums, the Communist police, are not going to take this away from us—or over our dead bodies."

Eyewitnesses said police carried several truckloads of men and women from the scene of the clash.

Several other disturbances were rumored in the capital.

The Central Workers Council reported there were sporadic and spontaneous strikes in several factories.

The Central Council in a proclamation posted in all factories said:

"It appears that an organized hunt has been started against the workers' councils throughout the country."

"If this continues, the confidence of the workers will be lost completely and those who direct the provocations will reach their goal by turning the workers' class definitely against the government. The end will be a general strike, bloodshed and a new national tragedy."

U.S. Bishops Seen Elevated

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 7 (AP)—The magazine Oggi, which has close Vatican connections, is saying in tomorrow's issue that the Vatican has prepared a list of 12 suitable candidates for elevation to cardinal, including two Americans.

The magazine adds, however, that "at least for the moment, there will be no consistory and the appointment of new cardinals is not imminent."

Oggi said that from reliable sources it learned that the American names on the list of eligibles for later consideration were Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen, auxiliary bishop of New York and Msgr. John Joseph Mitty, archbishop of San Francisco.

Death has claimed 10 cardinals since the last consistory.

Oggi said it likely would be 1959 or 1960 before another consistory is held. The last previous one was in January 1953.

At Vatican City, a spokesman declined comment on the list of names. Another Vatican source said: "Those certainly are names frequently mentioned. I would make only one or two additions—Msgr. Francis Keough, archbishop of Baltimore and, possibly, Msgr. Richard J. Cushing, archbishop of Boston, among the most likely choices."

Celebration Interrupted

HONG KONG, Saturday, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Red China radio at Peiping said today a celebration marking completion of the Yingtai-Amoy Railroad yesterday was interrupted by a Nationalist air raid and artillery barrage.

Two Men Plead Guilty To Assault On Nat King Cole

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 7 (AP)—Two Anniston men today pleaded guilty to a charge of assault in the April 10 attack on Negro singer Nat King Cole, and were fined.

Kenneth Adams, 25, was fined $50 and court costs, and Willis R. Vinson, 23, $100 and costs at a circuit court hearing.

Four other men arrested with them following the attack on Cole were assessed $50 fines in a previous court action.

Adams and Vinson had been charged with assault with intent to murder, a felony. The others were charged with misdemeanors.

All six were identified as White Citizens Council members.

Cole was rushed while he was singing before an audience of 4,000 white persons.

Woman Saved From Death Leap

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 7 (AP)—A dramatic struggle on an outside 22nd-floor ledge of the Transit Tower Building today saved the life of a 19-year-old mother trying to take her own life.

Robert A. Nelson, the building superintendent, credited John C. Henson, an office worker, with preventing her from leaping to the street after she had already jumped from a higher level three floors above.

Nelson said Henson crawled on the ledge, overpowered the girl, identified as Lois Gonzales, and pulled her to safety as she tried to scramble over a concrete railing.

Air Force Gives Up Search For Lost Missile

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—The Air Force gave up as lost today the Snark that snapped its controls somewhere over the South Atlantic.

Officials presumed the runaway, million dollar missile which weighed seven tons and carried no warhead, came to rest somewhere in the trackless jungles of eastern Brazil.

Let the Amazonians have what's left of it, said the Air Force in effect.

More details of the run-away Snark came to light today. The missile was fired Wednesday from the test center at Patrick Air Force Base, Florida.

The plan was for it to fly south-eastward over the ocean, then begin a series of turns which would put it into a square-shaped pattern while Air Force technicians gathered data sent back by "telemetering" radio equipment inside the missile.

Before the Snark took to the air, the technicians set its various electronic instruments to follow that pattern. They call this "programming" the flight.

For some reason, which may never be clear, the Snark failed to make its first turn. It may have had an electronic brain storm, or its mechanical brain may have ordered the turn and the rudder mechanism failed.

Whatever the cause, the Snark went sailing along on a straight path. Radar crews tracked it while the launching party stood helplessly by at Patrick AFB.

Radioed "command" signals from the base intended to put the missile into a turn when its automatic devices failed or to explode it in flight were ignored by the Snark.

The radar men watched it glide down over the northern coast of South America and finally disappear.

The assumption is that it landed in the jungle, possibly in the lower reaches of the Amazon Valley. This is based on the fact that the missile had been "programmed" for a flight of approximately 3,000 miles. A straight course would mean that the Snark probably ran out of fuel somewhere over Brazil.

$1 Billion Sought For Europe Aid

Treasury To Borrow Money; Officials Divided Over Crisis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 (AP)—Administration officials appear to be sharply divided over the amount and kind of financial assistance which America's allies in Europe may need in their present economic crisis.

This became evident today as the Treasury announced it would borrow a billion dollars on short-term bills this month. This borrowing is to raise cash which, among other things, may be used to help meet Britain's dollar needs.

Very little of the billion, however, would go to Britain directly from the United States. Most of it would go through the International Monetary Fund in the form of a dollar loan against Britain's own assets. It would not involve any aid at all in the usual sense of giving money or goods to a foreign country.

Based On Estimates

Differences in administration estimates of the situation apparently are based on different estimates of Europe's need.

While high administration officials are talking about a new program of financial aid for Europe they have not so far done very much about it other than to agree to try to get congressional approval to waive a British payment to the United States due this month.

Inquiry at the State Department produced no evidence of any full-scale studies there on the European plight looking to the development of long-range aid programs. This does not mean that the programs might not be worked up quickly in the next few weeks. It does indicate that the grand-scale concepts being noised about by some high-level authorities have yet to be translated into any substantial action.

Some top State Department officials are convinced that Britain, France, Italy and other European countries will soon need greater help than any so far projected.

No Need For Grant

By contrast, a high Treasury official said today he sees no need for any grant aid — outright gifts — to Europe. He said figures on Europe's losses from the reduction of Middle East oil supplies had been exaggerated.

This official said that while Britain is in difficulty France and Italy have financial reserves which should permit them to absorb much of the shock of the Middle East crisis.

Thus it appeared that while administration thinking on the policy side embraces very great possibility of new European economic aid which might possibly add a billion dollars a year to the present four-billion-dollar aid program, the expert thinking in the Treasury is not in agreement at all.

Poles, Church In Agreement

WARSAW, Saturday, Dec. 8 (AP)—The Polish government and the Roman Catholic Church today announced a sweeping settlement of their differences. It includes an agreement to restore religious education to the state schools.

The settlement was the outcome of four weeks of negotiation by a joint state-church commission set up after the release of Poland's primate, Stefan Cardinal Wysnyski.

The cardinal was released on Oct. 28 after three years of house arrest imposed by the pre-Gomulka Communist government.

The agreement includes these points:

1. An arrangement to restore religious education to grade and high schools for children whose parents request it.

2. An agreement allowing chaplains to work in hospitals and prisons.

3. A government commission for exiled priests and nuns to return to the western territories which Poland regained from Germany after World War II.

4. Church recognition that the state has a theoretical voice in church appointments. It is understood—although not written in the agreement — that the state has agreed never to veto appointments in the church.

British Forces Begin To Leave El Cap Area

PORT SAID, Egypt, Dec. 7 (AP)—British forces today began their final withdrawal from the battleground area near El Cap, turning over all territory between Port Said and the old front line sector to United Nations troops.

Half the British forces encamped behind the U.N. buffer zone rolled back to the embarkation port here this morning, and the other half was scheduled to pull out late in the day.

Indian U.N. troops who are now holding the buffer zone in the old no-man's land spread out northward to take over a further chunk of British territory. French troops held firm on the west side of the Suez Canal, saying they expected orders momentarily.

The withdrawal from positions south of Port Said showed the end was not far off. British - French military authorities here have said they expected it would take two to three weeks to withdraw their forces from Egypt, but the pace seemed to be going considerably ahead of that schedule.

By tomorrow, 4,350 British troops will have been withdrawn, leaving only 6,650 more to go. Three more troopships are due here in the next few days.

Three Canadian air force planes ferried another 110 Indians from Italy to join the U.N. force. The planes then went on to Beirut, Lebanon, to airlift another group of Indians from there to Egypt.

In The Hague, an Arab delegation appealed to the Dutch public and press to come to the aid of 10,000 homeless Arabs and 5,000 war victims in Port Said. The delegation consists of members of the 'Egypt Society of Graduates.'

Acid-Throwing Hoods Sentenced

NEW YORK, Dec. 7 (AP)—Three underlings in the Victor Riesel acid-throwing case were sentenced to prison today by a judge who termed the crime an attack upon law enforcement as well as upon the labor writer.

Federal Judge William B. Herlands sentenced Goldofio (Shiek) Miranti, 37, and Domenico (Nick) Bando, 47, to five years each, and Leo Telvi, 26, to two years. Miranti also was fined $10,000.

For more defendants are scheduled to go on trial next week. They include John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, accused as the "mastermind" in a plot to intimidate Riesel from testifying before a federal grand jury investigating rackets.

The fire, according to witnesses, started with an explosion when the four-car train switched from an overhead trolley line to an electrified third rail in passing into Chicago's North Side from Evanston.

A conductor stopped the train south of the Howard Street station, dividing line between the two cities, when it failed to make a scheduled stop there and he looked out to see flames and smoke billowing out from the front coach.

The 75 passengers in the burning coach and the rest of the 300 passengers in the other cars broke windows and scrambled in panic out of the train onto the elevated embankment.

The flames spread to the second coach, but firemen managed to put them out before there was heavy damage or passenger injury.

Daniel Cullen, 47, the motorman was burned to death, trapped in his cab.

Philippines Get Security Group Post

Poll 51 Of 74 Valid Votes Cast; Take Yugoslavia Position

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Dec. 7 (AP)—Eastern Europe lost its seat on the Security Council today to the Philippines, backed by the United States in the latest East-West row of the General Assembly. The Soviet Union protested vehemently.

The Philippines polled 51 of the 74 valid ballots cast during the secret voting. The Soviet candidate, Czechoslovakia, received 20 votes, Afghanistan, Spain and Yugoslavia one each and one country abstained. Four members were absent. This gave the Philippines one more than the two-thirds vote required for election.

Yugoslavia, which resigned from the Council in accord with a deal breaking a 35-ballot deadlock with the Philippines last year, will give up its seat Dec. 31 and the Philippines will serve the remainder of the normal two-year term.

It will be the first time since the Council was organized in 1946 that a country from Eastern Europe has not occupied one of the six nonpermanent seats. The Soviet Union is one of the five permanent members.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov charged the election was a clear discrimination against Eastern Europe and a "crude violation" of the Charter provision for geographical distribution of the nonpermanent seats on the Council. He said the United States was using the U.N. for its own purposes and was violating the London gentlemen's agreement of 1946 giving Eastern Europe a seat on the Council.

The United States, whose chief delegate, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., waged a campaign for Manila from the very start last year, conceded the London agreement was meant for one year only and no longer was binding.

Pate Receives Cool Reception

CARBONDALE, Ill., Dec. 7 (AP)—Arlie Pate, an obscure young farm boy who went to war in Korea and chose communism instead of freedom—but in three years had a change of heart—returned home early today and was given a warm reception only by members of his family. The townspeople stayed away.

(The turncoat former private arrived at the farm home of his parents nine miles southwest of here at 1:20 a.m. Pate lived at East Carondelet, 100 miles from here, when he entered the Army as a volunteer at 17.)

The people of Carbondale, nevertheless, a sample of on-the-street inquiries showed, are considering the case of "Arlie," as they have come to refer to it, as something for them to judge.

In town, the run of comment is something like, "If he liked the Communists, why didn't he stay there?"

In the country, among the farmers who know of the hard luck that has been hitting the Pate family for years, it is more like, "Let's see how Arlie turns out here."

Arlie's father, Daniel H. Pate, was waiting in his best bib and tucker, proud and direct, as he faced the muddy roadway with his gray hair tossing in the rising wind.

Pate's mother sat alone on the davenport inside, seeing no one and saying nothing.

Motorman Dies In Burning Car Of Elevated Train

CHICAGO, Dec. 7 (INS)—The front car of a wooden elevated train burst into a furnace of flames and smoke today, killing the motorman and injuring 50 passengers bound for jobs in Chicago.

The fire, according to witnesses, started with an explosion when the four-car train switched from an overhead trolley line to an electrified third rail in passing into Chicago's North Side from Evanston.

A conductor stopped the train south of the Howard Street station, dividing line between the two cities, when it failed to make a scheduled stop there and he looked out to see flames and smoke billowing out from the front coach.

General State Budget To Rise $16 Million

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said today Maryland's general fund budget will rise by about 16 million dollars next year and he's not sure where nine million of it is coming from.

Discussing the State's money picture in a speech to the weekly Civitan Club luncheon here, McKeldin said:

"At the moment, it appears that the general fund budget for fiscal 1958 will be close to 16 million dollars in excess of that for fiscal '57—the year in which we are now operating."

"I had hoped that increased revenue at present rates of taxation would take care of all of this difference."

"Frankly, I am disappointed by the calculations of the Board of Revenue Estimates tentatively reported to me. They indicate that some step or steps will be necessary to raise approximately nine million dollars more than the presently anticipated income from existing revenue sources."

McKeldin said he thinks the board's estimates are "too conservative" but he knows its members "are sincere in their presentation of the figures."

"It is conceivable, he added, that the board may revise the estimates upward as it has in some previous years."

"But 'if some increase in taxes is necessary,' McKeldin said, he will 'take pains to see...that no section of our economy should be harmed or placed at a disadvantage...'"

Maryland's budget for the fiscal year ending next June 30 is $309,036,737.

Nearly 151-million of this is in general funds, or money raised through such general taxes as sales and income. The rest is in special funds, which come from such levies as motor vehicle registrations and gasoline taxes, and in turn must be spent for specific purposes, such as highway construction.

It is estimated that about $10 million is stolen from banks by employees each year.

British Power Void Develops East Of Suez

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
BEIRUT, Lebanon, Dec. 6 (AP)—A dangerous vacuum is developing East of Suez.

Britain has been disgraced in the Arab world and disgraced in Iraq because of her action beside the French in Egypt, and her rapidly diminishing influence leaves a void.

"Please, please," said a veteran Arab socialist leader in Iraq, "for the love of God tell the United States to step into this vacuum. Please tell the United States to join the Baghdad Pact now. There is no time to waste."

But a young Arab nationalist in Baghdad told me the same day: "Please stay away from the Baghdad Pact. Please give us a reason to turn to the United States in our need. If we must have a pact, please give us a pact with a clean name." And another young Arab extremist told me in Baghdad: "Don't give us any pacts at all. Give us sympathy and understanding. We want to turn to the United States if they let us."

On all sides in the Arab world, particularly in Iraq, one hears this repeated theme. The Arabs seem frightened of Russia, frightened that events will carry them too far toward the Soviet embrace.

With the exception of Communists, all Arabs seem to be begging for U. S. leadership—a firm voice that will lead them away from the dead end street which threatens to take them to the threshold of chaos.

But they cannot agree on what specific thing the United States must do. They do agree that since President Eisenhower took his stand on the Egyptian crisis, American influence and prestige have grown tremendously. They ardently want American help.

Foreign diplomats, foreign observers and responsible Arab leaders all agree: Never did the United States have a greater opportunity to capture the imagination of the Arab world with bold leadership. Never, they say, since the end of World War II has the United States enjoyed such popularity in the Arab world as it does at this moment. The Arabs look upon Eisenhower's stand as a symbol of hope.

Egypt's President Gamal Abdel Nasser still is the most popular man in the Middle East, but Eisenhower runs second. A sobering thought, however, is that the Kremlin ranks third.

For the Arabs, Britain's name is associated with the Baghdad Pact. The pact has long been the central target of relentless propaganda which pours upon Iraq from Egypt, Syria and Russia.

4 Policemen Are Injured

BALTIMORE, Dec. 7 (AP)—Four policemen were hurt, one a State trooper, in separate accidents involving two police cruisers and a motorcycle.

State Trooper Richard A. Deeds, 33, of Bethesda, was in University Hospital with a fractured vertebra. Police said an auto made a left turn into the path of Deeds' patrol car in Rockville Thursday night.

In Baltimore, Motorcycle Patrolman William Spradbro, 29, was taken unconscious to Union Memorial Hospital Thursday night after his cycle and an auto collided. He was reported in serious condition with head, back and internal injuries.

Patrolmen Daniel Oppel and Horace E. Ervin were en route to an accident today when their patrol car and an auto collided. Both officers were treated at a hospital and released.

WHEN I GROW UP . . .

Magical words these, "when I grow up"—full of promise, replete with confidence. What youngster hasn't uttered them?

This lad is no different. He looks into the future that will be his when he grows up, and the world is his oyster, intact with pearls.

This month he wants to be a flier. Next month he'll want to be an engineer, spanning bridges across great rivers and wide chasms. The month after that he'll see himself as a surgeon, scalpel poised between skilled fingers. And the month after that—who knows?

For youth is ever changing, ever restless. That's why it is so important that youth's naturally impulsive nature be held fast by an anchor that is good, firm and permanent. They need a faith that will sustain them whether they become doctors, fliers, or engineers. The Church provides this faith, this anchor.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Artemas Man Is Set Free

BEDFORD, Pa. — An Artemas man, was found not guilty on a charge of false pretense by a Court-directed verdict Wednesday by Judge Richard C. Snyder in Bedford County (Pa.) Quarter Sessions Court.

Bruce R. Boden, of RD 1, Artemas was ordered freed on a legal technicality in a trial stemming from a fire which destroyed his general store at Inglesmith, Pa., last August. An arson charge against him in the case was dismissed at a hearing in September.

Attorney Paul A. Koontz, defense counsel, asked for the directed verdict, contending his client had not filed any "proof of loss" statement with insurance companies involved in the connection with the fire, and thus there could not have been any attempt to defraud insurers.

Following a conference between Judge Snyder, Koontz and District Attorney E. William Van Horn, the jurors were ordered to return a verdict of not guilty.

The case resulted when it was discovered that household items supposed to have been lost in the fire were in an apartment which Boden had rented in Hagerstown.

Parsons Native Begins Cruise In Thirty-Foot Tahiti Ketch

Lt. Cmdr. Herman R. Hebb To Spend 10 Years Visiting Foreign Ports

PARSONS, W. Va.—Retiring after 25 years of naval service, Lieutenant Commander Herman R. Hebb, USN, of the Ground Control Approach Unit, Naval Air Missile Test Center, Point Mugu, plans to spend the next ten years sailing his 30 foot Tahiti Ketch the "Voyager" from California around the Gulf waters and across the Atlantic to Italy and Spain.

Mr. Hebb, a son of Mrs. Margaret Hebb of Parsons and the late Harvey Hebb, entered the Navy as an enlisted man in Washington in August 1931. After the completion of his basic training at Norfolk, Va., he was sent to radio school there. Upon graduation he headed for sea and the "USS Wright" a seaplane tender. He also served on the carrier Lexington and the Sandpiper.

After four years at sea Hebb returned to dry land and VP7 Squadron at North Island, San Diego. From there he was transferred to VP3 and took part in the longest non-stop flight in the history of the Navy at that time. Flight time, 28 hours and 30 minutes from San Diego to Coco Solo in the Canal Zone.

During World War II, he was in the North Atlantic as a radio-man and saw action in the northern Solomons. He was serving as CPO on VB131 in May 1943 when he was advanced to Warrant Officer and transferred to Casu-9 in the South Pacific.

Returning to the states, he attended airborne electronics school and became part of the new Ground Control Approach program in Corp — Christi, Tex. He was sent to Point Mugu and since that time has been planning his trip. He became interested in small sailing craft only a few years ago and has had the "Voyager" for approximately two years.

Sailing the coast's waters most of the way, Hebb expects the food and refrigeration problem to be a small one. It will be possible to keep about a week's supply of fresh vegetables and dehydrated food on board, restocking at small ports along the way. The commander and Mrs. Hebb, his crew of one, began the journey soon after his discharge from the Navy on Oct. 1. The first leg of the journey is taking them along the coast of Mexico; and down to the Panama Canal Zone.

After passing through the Canal they will sail up the coast of old Mexico and on to the port of Houston, Tex. From there they expect to sail up to New York. In April 1958 when the tide is right and the weather is fair, they plan to set sails for open water and the Mediterranean Sea. This, the longest part of their journey, will take them about four weeks without the sight of land. They will go from the Azores to the Mediterranean and then to the coastal waters of Spain.

The couple plan to reside in that area for approximately 10 years. Their plans after that are uncertain.

Fearful Syria Has Reason For Worry

Syria, only recently warned by the United States against any aggression, now is crediting the U. S. with restraining Iraq possibly with Turkish backing, from encroaching on her territory. The fears of Syria, valid or not, have historical foundations.

In the 19th Century, what is now the Middle East still formed part of the Ottoman (Turkish) Empire. In World War II, Nuri al-Said, then as now Prime Minister of Iraq, proposed a union among the independent Arab states — except Egypt — reviving the Iraqi dream of a Hashemite Empire. But Syria remained under strict French control after the war, until the French evacuated in 1946 under a United Nations agreement negotiated by the U. S. The history of the French mandate (1920-1946) is one of nationalist struggles for independence, countered by bloody repressions. Before 1945 there had been almost a score of armed attempts to oust the French. Thereafter three armed force and police coups culminated in making Brig. Adib Shishaikli the "strong man" in 1949. In 1953, he became Syria's President, only to be deposed in February 1954 in a three-day coup which brought the current President, Shukri Kuwaty, to power.

Today, Britain, Turkey, Iraq and Pakistan are linked in the Baghdad Pact of 1955. Syria resisted Iraqi pressure to join, concluding instead a mutual defense treaty with Egypt. Syria has similar agreements with Yemen and Saudi Arabia, and is a member of the Arab League. And Syrian, Egyptian and Saudi Arabian forces are linked in joint command in case of war.

Although the opening of the Suez Canal in 1869 put Syria off the beaten track of modern development, she recently had expected to get up to 85 per cent of her revenues from a British-American pipeline carrying oil from Iraq through Syria. But pumping stations on the line recently were destroyed, reportedly by the Syrian army. The army's role in Syria is curious. The country's force of 25,000 men has done little fighting, is largely untrained; nevertheless, today's "strong man" is nationalistic Col. Abdel Hamid Saraj, who rules through Premier Sabri El-Assaly and President Kuwaty, and who apparently seized control when hostilities broke out in Egypt late in October. To make matters more interesting, Saraj is a great admirer of another Middle East strong man—Egypt's President Nasser.

The Pay Of Teachers

When taxes consume a large part of everybody's income and when the cost of living rises steadily, certain elements in the community find themselves earning less and less in the purchasing power of their take-home pay. Some industrial contracts include escalator clauses which protect the purchasing power of the wage; such escalator "cost-of-living" clauses rarely appear in the salary scales of professionals.

However, those who have fixed incomes of any form, find that the value of their income is constantly being reduced. The same is true of white-collar workers, as they are called, who live on fixed salaries, sometimes determined by statutes which limit pay not by a measure of the cost of living for the particular type of employee but by the will of a legislative body.

With regard to teachers, I have received many letters objecting to any arithmetic which indicates that a teacher is paid for 52 weeks work. Some say that a teacher works only 40 weeks a year but is paid for 52 weeks.

It is to be hoped that the critics are wrong. A teacher, whether in the kindergarten or a university, not only teaches but has to learn. A teacher who stops learning has nothing to teach; he or she becomes empty-headed and useless. It must therefore be assumed that a teacher's salary also includes continuing learning time.

Let me cite an example: A teacher of physics, during the past decade, has had to do a lot of study on the subject of atomic fission so that he knows what he is talking about in the classroom and if the students ask questions. This requires an enormous amount of technical reading which cannot be done as one watches a movie show. It is necessarily slow and laborious.

1957 is called the Geophysical Year. Many important scientific developments are being brought into the news about which students in high schools and colleges ought to know more than is casually reported in the press. A professor of physics, geology, geophysics, astrophysics, astronomy, etc., has needed to prepare himself for this special year. He might have used a summer or a sabbatical year to travel to some other country or to serve on a team doing some special task, or attending lectures or seminars. Often there is no additional pay for the time put into intellectual tasks, and yet without special work, the teacher stagnates.

I have twice listened to President Theodore Hesburgh of Notre Dame speak about the need for increasing faculty salaries. It is not that learned men have become more mercenary in the present era than they used to be in another age, but that the cost of living, the cost of taxes, the cost of books and magazines, the cost of educating children—all these have gone up for the learned man as well as for the man who is not learned. As a matter of fact, the truck driver, who may have been a college football player or who may never have been to a college, may find that his wages and fringe benefits bring him more for his family than a professor who knows how to build an atomic reactor.

I have before me a table of salaries for university teachers in California who have had seven years of college education and hold a Ph.D. This could have cost the teacher's family more than $10,000, depending upon the colleges attended and the cost of living in those colleges. The annual salaries for these seven-year trained Ph.D.s, ranging from instructor to professor, run from a low of $4,512 a year to a high of $9,384 a year before taxes. Deduct taxes and the pay is still less.

A bit player in Hollywood would reject such a salary; a strip-teaser would laugh if offered such pay. When the intellectual leaders of the community are driven down to the proletariat, the danger is that their conscious or subconscious worries and dissatisfactions are bound to be passed on to the students. And that needs to be thought out.

Bet He'll Be Getting Hungry Again

World Situation Recalls Events Of 20 Years Ago

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — "More Barbarism in Hungary"—that's the headline. But it's not novel.

It makes one shudder today to re-read the pages of world history between 1933 and 1939. It produces the uneasy feeling that history is repeating itself now and that a Third World War is coming, maybe in a year or two, maybe before 1960.

The record shows that in the 1930s the failure of Great Britain, France and the United States to work closely together made it easier for the enemy to carry on its aggression.

The record shows also that a "concert of power" was always being extolled as an ideal, but when it came down to brass tacks, Great Britain, France and the United States did not cooperate as allies. The aggressor went on the assumption that there would be no effective alliance. It took a world war and the sacrifice of many innocent lives to convince the enemy of that mistaken assumption.

"Quarantine"—How?

The cry in the 1930s was for moral force — even as it is today. An example was the famous "Quarantine" speech made in Chicago on October 5, 1937 by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. It attracted world-wide attention.

I, that speech, the pertinent paragraphs were as follows:

"If we are to have a world in which we can breathe freely and live in amity without fear, the peace-loving nations must take a concerted effort to uphold laws and principles on which alone peace can rest secure.

"The peace-loving nations must make a concerted effort in opposition to those violations of treaties and those ignorings of humane instincts which today are creating a state of international anarchy and instability from which there is no escape through mere isolation or neutrality. . . . It seems to be unfortunately true that the epidemic of world lawlessness is spreading. When an epidemic of physical disease starts to spread, the community approves and joins in a quarantine of the patients in order to protect the health of the community against the spread of that disease."

Mr. Roosevelt did not spell out what he meant by "quarantine," but it was interpreted generally as meaning an economic embargo. Describing the speech as a "masterpiece" and one that "the whole world had been waiting to hear from the lips of the President of the United States, this correspondent wrote on the day afterwards:

"In the intercourse of nations, the stigma of barbarism hurts. When peace-loving peoples come to ostracize from their midst the governments which do violence to all humane principles, there is put into motion the forces that ultimately shame nations into a change of policy. If the democracies of the world stick together and put a 'moral quarantine' on the leper governments of the world there will be a sudden realization on the part of the peoples living under those governments that world trade, world intercourse, and world opinion shun them as the enemies of mankind."

But the plan was frustrated because Great Britain, France and the United States didn't follow through with the "quarantine." Isolationism in America and pussyfoot policies abroad were responsible. Britain, France and the United States were either unwilling or unable for financial reasons to impose an embargo.

It was a repetition of the tragedy of two years before when Mussolini in 1935 invaded Ethiopia. The League of Nations ordered an embargo on arms to Italy and particularly banned shipments of oil. But the principal nations — the United States, Great Britain and France — couldn't agree on who would pay the bill growing out of loss of trade. By 1936 the conquest of Ethiopia was completed.

Also in 1932 when America, under Secretary of State Stimson, took the lead in urging a denunciation of Japan as an aggressor in Manchuria, Britain stood aloof. The record of the next few years is replete with instances in which one act of ag-

Babies And Adults React Differently To Colds

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The common cold rarely occurs during the first three months of life. But if it does, the condition is likely to be mild, with little or no fever and only a slight nasal discharge.

Sneezing and coughing in an infant may be interpreted as a cold but these maneuvers have an entirely different origin. A violent sneeze is the only way a newborn can clear his nose of secretions, lint, and dust, particularly in the winter months when the average home is overheated or too dry.

As a result, the amount of irritating dust particles in the living quarters rises and the lining membranes of the respiratory passageways become drier than usual.

Sneezing and nasal discharge also mean the tyke is trying to eliminate irritating stomach contents he has regurgitated into the nasal passageways. The infant has no other method for dislodging foreign material of this type. In this respect, sneezing comes in handy but should not be misconstrued as the beginning of a respiratory infection.

Babies get their first introduction to the cold virus after the age of three months. But the disorder follows a different pattern from that in adults. The toddler, pre-schooler, and first grader have little resistance against viral invaders. They develop an extremely high temperature (103 to 105 degrees F.), running nose, and a barking cough. In addition, there may be vomiting and diarrhea.

Symptoms continue for three to four days before fever subsides and all is well except for residual cough. It is difficult for parents to understand why Johnny reacts to the infection in such a violent manner when the older members of the family have only sniffles and cough without fever. The answer is that children are different and respond to ailments in a different way from adults.

Eighty per cent of youngsters with a cold improve spontaneously. A simple cough medicine may be used but it is unwise to give antibiotics and nose drops unless prescribed by the physician. Six per cent of children with fever and other manifestations of a cold go on to a specific disease such as measles or chickenpox. The remaining 14 per cent develop complications of the common cold, such as ear infections, bronchitis, pneumonia, or enlarged glands of the neck and throat.

NATURE KNOWS BEST

Mrs. W. writes: I'm pregnant and it would be more convenient for me to deliver in seven months than in nine. Are any injections or other treatments available to speed up labor?

REPLY

Yes, but such a procedure is risky. Pregnancy is a responsibility and not a convenience. Children born on schedule have a greater chance of survival than those who come into the world prematurely.

A POOR EXCUSE

Mrs. G. writes: I weigh 220 pounds and would like to reduce but have been told it would be dangerous because I have varicose veins. Please advise.

REPLY

This excuse is not good enough. Reducing will not make the veins worse; if anything, there would be a slight improvement.

CIRRHOSIS AND CANCER

H. R. writes: Is cirrhosis of the liver a fancy name for cancer?

REPLY

No. Cirrhosis is a liver condition in which the cells that have been damaged are replaced with scar tissue. Alcoholism and nutritional deficiencies are common causes.

SMOKING AND HEART TESTS

W. M. writes: How can a person tell if smoking is affecting his heart?

REPLY

Stop smoking for 12 to 24 hours and then run the gamut of heart tests before and after smoking a cigaret.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Kefauver's Energy

Regardless of the outcome of the recent election, both Republicans and Democrats probably agree that the hardest campaigner on either ticket was Sen. Estes Kefauver. Though Nixon also campaigned tirelessly, he did not have to face advance primary elections. Kefauver, on the other hand, began campaigning last January, and kept going through the snows of Minnesota and the heat of California until the very end. He probably walked more city blocks, shook more hands than any candidate in history.

When he took his titian-haired wife Nancy and their four children for a holiday in Georgia, therefore, most people expected him to relax. Mrs. Kefauver and the children, however, knew better.

"How are we going to keep daddy busy?" the children asked their mother. "He won't be able to sit still on an island."

Young David solved the problem. He got his father up every morning at 5 to go hunting. They were vacationing on the island owned by Dick Reynolds of Reynolds Aluminum, off the coast of Georgia. It abounds in game, so the two Kefauver males shot wild turkeys while the rest of the family slept. Once they caught two raccoons, put one of them, a baby, in the Senator's coat by tying the sleeves together. Finally they let it go.

The restless Senator got back to Washington this week, immediately flew back to Tennessee, started another round of speeches.

Good Neighbors Worry

Latin-American diplomats, accustomed to being the tail on the North American kite and sometimes a bit bitter about it, are scrutinizing the Administration's lean toward the Afro-Asian axis with concern.

Africa and Asia have been the top competitors of South America for years. They have been the chief disrupters of the good-neighbor policy, already badly tarnished. So if the United States now lines up solidly with Asia and Africa, Latin-American diplomats see the good-neighbor policy pretty much coming to an end.

They point out that John Foster Dulles, Vice President Nixon, and UN Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge seem to forget in advising an American-Afro-Asian alliance what happened after Pearl Harbor. After December 7, 1941, the American public walked because it had no rubber. It saved cans and toothpaste tubes because it had no tin. It frantically started cochina and sisal plantations in Central America because it had no quinine or hemp.

Never was the economic debacle of the United States so great, Latin-American diplomats recall, all because the United States had turned to Asia and Africa for the cheap tropical products raised by the cheap labor of an imperialist colonial system.

They also point out that distances between Africa and Asia are just as long today as they were in 1941-45. In fact, the route is even more difficult, as indicated by the closing of the Suez Canal and the huge Russian submarine fleet.

If you look down the list of commodities which Latin America sells to the USA you can readily understand why the diplomats are concerned. Chief competitor of Latin-American coffee is African and Asiatic coffee. Cocoa, the lifeblood of Ecuador, now gets stiff competition from Africa. On the price of cocoa frequently depends revolution in Ecuador. Bolivian presidents come and go, depending on the price of tin. Brazil's manganese has to compete with Indian manganese.

That's why the new Dulles-Nixon-Lodge plan of lining up with Asia and Africa is not going to win us many friends among our so-called "good," but sometimes forgotten "neighbors."

Lady Bountiful

By Brother Barnabas

Before we become too involved in the excitements of Christmas it might be well to lift the curtain and see what it is that makes Christmas tick.

We are in the preliminary stages of a celebration of perhaps the most colorful day in the Christian calendar.

From all appearances our town looks like a bride dressed for her wedding, but with no groom in sight.

The Nativity has gathered so many pagan accretions through the centuries that the Star of Bethlehem is but faintly visible, if at all, under the glare of our modern electrical age.

Scrooge or Bacchanalia?

Most of us will follow the crowd and observe the conventions of the occasion, but with variant moods.

To one it will be a Scrooge-like bore, to another bacchanalian revelry, to still another a religious festival.

There is a growing sentiment for restoring Christmas to the Source whence it sprang, and that's a good omen.

The orthodox Santa Claus is an elfin fairy personified by the "country gentlewoman" of Farquhar's comedy. "The Beaux' Stratagem," who cures all the neighbors of their distempers and is the benefactress of the whole parish. I'd like to cotton to that Lady.

She is lavish and impartial in her giving, like rain falling on the just and the unjust. And her philanthropies extend like the Red Cross to meet every human need as it arises.

Children write letters to Santa Claus. Nowadays wives give orders. Everybody's happy, and the "Lady" pays the bill, but it must not be some other lady.

If you could have your wish, what would it be? If you are a boy it might be a pair of skates with plenty of ice.

If a lover, an engagement ring or a hope chest. If a sufferer, freedom from pain and a return of health. If a sinner, forgiveness.

The greatest blessings of life are freest and commonly overlooked. Give me the necessities and you can have the luxuries.

Billy saved up 30 cents and with it wanted to buy the Washington National Monument. The guard told him it was not for sale, and if it were, 30 cents would not be enough. Besides it was his already.

What is necessary to life on this planet? Food. More than half the world's population go to bed every night hungry. The race may perish from famine. There is always the risk of starvation as long as populations remain unchecked. If birth control had been the vogue in the days of Benjamin Franklin and John Wesley, what would have happened to "Poor Richard's Almanac" and The Methodist Church?

The earth is threatened with a water famine. A high rainfall is of little use unless it falls at the right place and at the right time. If the impounded water in the ice-heads of the world were melted in a hurry the sea level would rise 100 feet and that in its ultimatum would change the destiny of mankind.

The water system in my town was paralyzed. There was no fire protection, no water in the kitchen, the bath, the laundry, for hosing, for baptisms. Happily it was but a dream, resulting from water on the brain.

Oil is a necessity. Praise God from whom oil blessings flow, for to be without oil our industries would grind to a standstill, and starvation would overtake the people.

Sir James Young Simpson, Scottish physician, called down religious and medical censure for using anesthetics in childbirth. He pointed out that when God produced Eve from Adam's rib, he first cast Adam into a deep sleep. When it became known that Queen Victoria had taken chloroform during medical treatment the last obstacle was removed.

Leading scientists are hopeful that every disease will, in the course of time, yield to scientific treatment. The Psalmist (103:3) foresaw that day: "Who healeth all thy diseases."

Do you have arteriosclerosis, hypertension, "arthritis," lumbago, nephritis, multiple sclerosis, "very-close veins" or "divers diseases" (Mark 1:34), read Proverbs 17:22—"A cheerful heart is a good medicine."

The Treatment

Phone your rabbi, priest or preacher for a list of Biblical apothegms, but be sure you get the right party. Once there was a confusion in the telephone directory, since there was listed a medical doctor and doctor of Divinity.

The maid answered "Wrong number; this is the doctor that daz nobody no good."

Tell like beads on a rosary the Scriptural apothegms you will collect, but arrange them in proper sequence, else they may read: "Judas went out and hanged himself. Go and do thou likewise. What thou doest, do quickly."

"I always thought Dan and Beersheba were husband and wife, like Sodom and Gomorrah, till Lady Bountiful told me better."

Here's wishing all fans a Merry Christmas, from

Mountaineers Play Generals Tonight

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 7 — West Virginia's basketball team, which has had it easy so far with 23-and-35-point victories at home, expects a stronger test Saturday night from Washington and Lee's veteran quint at Fayetteville, where 3,500 southern West Virginians get a look-see at the Mountaineers and Hot Rod Hundley.

"We haven't proved ourselves yet," Coach Fred Schaus said after easy wins over outmanned VMI and Florida State squads. "I will begin to believe our defense is good when it can limit better opposition to scores like 47 and 54 points."

The Mountaineers' 71-47 victory over VMI represented the lowest opponent score since Bethany was held to 42 points five years ago, in 1952.

Allegany County Deer Kills Hit All-Time High

Legless Hunter Fires From Truck To Bag His Deer

A Flintstone hunter who lost both of his legs in a railroad accident two years ago was among the nimrods who bagged deer yesterday in Allegany county.

The law prohibits the shooting of deer from a vehicle but a special dispensation was granted Herman Barnes and he was permitted to sit in a pick-up truck while the other members in the party chased the deer in the direction of the machine.

Barnes bagged a five-point buck that weighed 85 pounds yesterday on Green Ridge. The animal was checked by Graydon Dunlap at Shipway's Garage.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(INS)—In the last 10 seasons the Dodgers have won six pennants, finished second three times and third once.

The Yanks have had an even tighter lock on their league since they have won eight pennants, finished second once and third once over the same stretch.

It is natural, then, that fans in other big league cities outside New York should resent the big town's virtual pennant monopoly. But what to do about it?

Both Dodgers and Yanks say it is up to the other clubs to build up their own outfits. The Yanks, of course, always had a fat bankroll with which to work. But the same cannot be said of the Dodgers.

The Dodgers built up a strong farm system with comparatively little cash but smart management.

It must be noted, too, that they rarely, if ever, let a great prospect go to come back to haunt them. And they have been willing to gamble on players that other clubs didn't want.

Other clubs passed up Joe DiMaggio at $25,000 because of a trick knee but the Yanks gambled on him and won.

The Dodgers were willing to take a chance on Sal Maglie when the Indians gave up on him and they will recall what a gold mine he was for them.

For our part we'd like to see some clubs other than the Yanks and Dodgers in a world series. Some towns have had a long wait between pennants. The Pirates, for instance, won their last flag in 1927.

They showed signs of improvement last year and Pittsburgh may not have to wait another 30 years for another pennant.

If and when the Pirates do win, we hope they have better luck than they did in '27 when Babe Ruth & Co. sank them in four straight games.

As things stand today, we can see little hope of other clubs ousting either the Yanks or Dodgers next year. The Dodgers surely figure to be no weaker with Johnny Podres' back and the Yanks, even without any new players, but a little more luck in avoiding injuries, could win again.

On second thought, both clubs figure to be strong for years to come for their farm clubs are loaded with fine young talent waiting for a chance to break into the big wheel.

U.S. Hockey Team Quits Tournament

BRUNSWICK, Me., Dec. 7.—(INS)—The United States hockey team today withdrew from the world championship tournament scheduled for Moscow next February.

Jack Matley, manager of the team, said the state department failed to furnish visas for the team to enter Russia.

Canada and England withdrew from the tournament when Russia moved into Hungary to suppress the revolt in the country.

67-Year-Old Hunter Of Westernport, Bags Deer With 19 Points

Ernest Fazenbaker, 67-year-old hunter of Westernport, is expected to claim the "point title" for the 1956 deer hunting season in Western Maryland.

According to Police Officer Richard Householder, of Westernport, who checked the animal, Fazenbaker yesterday brought in a 19-point buck that scaled 165 pounds. He made the kill on Big Savage Mountain, Garrett County, near the Piedmont dam.

Householder said the deer had 19 big points and the rack was one of the finest he ever has seen.

"There were a bunch of nubbins in addition to the 19 points but they were not counted," Householder stated.

The Difficulties Mount

LETICIA, Colombia

In their constantly widening quest for new material, "Zoo Parade" last year went to British East Africa to photograph the lions, leopards, elephants, rhinos and the grazing animals such as the antelopes and zebras of the great plains. This year the same crew is on the upper Amazon to photograph the abundant wildlife here but the problems are immeasurably more difficult.

Next to an anaconda, the African animals are a bunch of hams. They parade around the wide plains or relatively open forest glades in broad sunshine like movie stars, and with today's long lenses it's no great problem to take infinitely detailed close-ups. Here, though, the animals and reptiles lie in a jungle far denser than that of Africa, mostly in deep gloom. In fact, many of the little furred animals or birds or reptiles here will die if you leave them in the scorching sun for more than a minute or two. Only mad dogs and Americans go out in the Amazon sun. Many of the most interesting of the local fauna are the fishes and reptiles and mammals which lie under the muddy waters of the Amazon completely out of the range of the cameras. It all presents quite a problem. For instance in Africa, the "Zoo Parade" crowd witnessed and photographed the capture of zebra and giraffe just as it has taken place on the plains for 40 years. But the capture of snakes and reptiles is a largely private matter between captor and prey, mostly performed at night.

It's a shame you can't photograph it because reptile hunts are a much more fair contest between man and animal than most hunts. It's the hunter's wits and eyes and hands pitted against the animal's instincts and eyes and fangs and claws. In every regard except wits, theirs are sharper than ours.

I was out with Ross Allen, one of the members of this expedition who is an incurable reptile hunter, one night when we spotted in the bush after it and I was left in darkness. Ahead of me, there was the sound of a machete slicing into a tree, a crash as the tree went down, the noise of a wild scuffle and a cry of pain from Ross. A minute later, he was back carrying a five-foot iguana, a large lizard with wicked claws and an even nastier jaw. Ross's arms were spouting blood, where the animal had protested this intrusion on his privacy.

The age-old joy of hunting is here reduced to its most primitive level. Take 'em alive and take 'em with your own hands. Nothing could be fairer than that. Of course, even a five-foot iguana is no match for an 180-pound man—but then it was quite possible that those eyes weren't an iguana's but something much larger than Ross. Frankly, I consider this form of hunting a kind of insanity but those people it afflicts get an enormous satisfaction out of it. Allen goes in for this form of amusement almost every night. In fact, on the way home from this particular hunt, he caught another iguana.

This kind of madness is likely to strike anyone, even Jim Hurlbut who on "Zoo Parade" represents the average, thoroughly frightened man. Hurlbut and I were coming home from the little Brazilian town of Esperanza where we had been testing the Brazilian beer which is both strong and delicious. Our boat was put-putting upstream against the strong Amazon current in an orange sunset which suddenly outlined a snake swimming the other way.

His hunting instincts inflamed, conceivably by the beer, Hurlbut reached out and hauled in the snake and instantly had 11 feet of bitterly protesting green racer wrapped around his neck. A green racer isn't venomous, something Hurlbut didn't find out till later, but that doesn't mean it hasn't got fangs. It has and it sank them into Jim's wrists with great enthusiasm. Between us we stuffed the snake into a plastic shopping bag, which my housekeeper had purchased for other purposes, and bore the beast home, angry but alive. The glow of triumph hasn't left Hurlbut yet. In fact, so thoroughly has he stepped out of his role as ordinary, timorous man, that he may be useless in the part from now on.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it: ANYDLBAAXR is LONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

City, County Will Act On Rate Appeal

Formal Votes Set Monday, Tuesday

Formal action on plans to appeal the recent gas rate increase will be taken by the city and the county at meetings Monday and Tuesday.

Representatives of the Mayor and Council and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners yesterday afternoon directed their attorneys to recommend action at meetings scheduled next week.

Poor attendance at the meeting brought on the delay after William H. Buchholz, commissioner of streets and public property, said action should be unanimous.

Commissioner James Orr represented the Board of Allegany County Commissioners with Governor E. Getty, county attorney, and reported William H. Lemmert was unable to attend due to the illness of his brother.

Attorneys Report

The City of Cumberland was represented by Mayor Roy W. Eves, Commissioners William J. Edwards and Buchholz and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan.

Commissioner Orr reporting he has been promised the backing of Mr. Lemmert in any action he took, moved that the city and the county go ahead and file the appeal.

Both attorneys informed the officials they would do the best they could in appealing the case to the Circuit Court here.

Both attorneys pointed out the difficulties which may be encountered in appealing the rate decision.

The courts, they explained, say that the Maryland Legislature set up the Public Service Commission to set rates and will not disturb the commission's judgment unless a decision is proved arbitrary, unreasonable or illegal.

Orr Cites Point

Rates paid by C&A for gas from Atlantic Seaboard, Commissioner Orr said, are "unreasonable" and make a good case for appeal.

Gas purchased from that transmission company cost C&A about 95 cents a thousand cubic feet in 1955 as opposed to the 27-cent cost for gas it produces or buys from other sources.

Protestants pointed out in the rate case before the PSC that the C&A contract with the firm calls for the delivery of 12,000 MCF (thousand cubic feet) of gas daily if required but that the actual peak demand upon the transmission firm was only 6,297 MCF, and that customers should not be made to pay the difference.

Advancing against taking it "lying down," Mayor Eves said that "if we pursue the case to the bitter end" it will show the gas company that citizens are in earnest.

Predicts Approval

The new schedule became effective November 9, and raised average yearly costs of those who use gas for cooking and heating their homes by about $8.75, and boosts bills of those who use gas for cooking and heating water only by about $7.20, according to the company.

Getty pointed out that the city and county made about half of its points in the rate case—but not the points that materially change the rates.

Orr promised that the formal action to appeal will be taken up by the county Tuesday and "will pass."

Mayor Eves served as chairman of the meeting.

There were indications yesterday that the question of the company's franchise here might be decided soon.

Commissioner Buchholz exhibited a first notice from the firm, saying gas will be shut off at the Water Department warehouse on December 13 for non-payment of a $9.15 bill.

Protestants billing ranging between $1,700 to $1,800 for gas service in city buildings have piled up, Commissioner Buchholz said, but he said that city payments resumed in October.

The company and the city have been discussing for some time a franchise arrangement in lieu of the free gas during months when space heating equipment is not in use.

Mayor Eves flatly told Mr. Buchholz the company was not going to shut off the gas.

Mr. Finan was checking with company officials yesterday afternoon.

Five Will Attend Md. School Talk

County Boards To Meet Monday

All five members of the Allegany County Board of Education are planning to attend the conference of state and local Boards of Education at the Sheraton-Belvedere Hotel in Baltimore Monday, according to Superintendent of Schools Ralph R. Webster.

They are Kenneth R. Malcolm, Mrs. Albert C. Cook, Mrs. Stanley Buckley, Joseph M. Miller and J. Goodloe Jackson.

"The Role of the Public Junior College in Meeting the Increased Demand for Higher Education" will be discussed by Dr. F. Marvin Buechel, president of the York (Pa.) Junior College, at the morning session. Dr. Wendell D. Allen, president of the State Board of Education, will preside at the morning session and Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will extend greetings.

After lunch the representatives of the 23 county boards of education will be divided into six groups for discussion of particular subjects. Dr. James E. Spitznagel, director of the Division of Instruction of the State Department of Education, and a native of Frostburg, will be consultant at one of the group conferences.

Consultant in another will be Dr. Harold Reese, supervisor of teacher and higher education for the State Department of Education and former member of the Frostburg State Teachers College faculty.

State Farm Values Up

Maryland farm real estate values climbed another six per cent in 1956, according to A. B. Hamilton, University of Maryland extension farm management specialist.

During the fiscal year which ended July 1, value of farmland increased in all but six states—Kentucky, Nebraska, Kansas, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado. Changes ranged from a five per cent decline in Colorado to a 15 per cent increase in Florida. The average increase for the entire nation was three per cent.

Average per farm value in Maryland was reported to be $22,000 slightly higher than the national average of nearly $21,500. Per farm values ranged from a low of $8,000 in Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi to a high of $121,000 in Arizona.

Principal reasons for the generally increasing farmland values, according to Department of Agriculture report, are a strong demand from farm operators for additional land and the opinion on the part of present owners and prospective purchasers that farmland is a safe long-term investment as population continues to increase and farmland is limited.

City Hall May Be Sandblasted

City Hall may get a beauty treatment, according to William H. Buchholz, commissioner of streets and public property.

The sandblasting of the Public Safety Building, he said, "makes City Hall look sick."

The contract with the Pittsburgh firm for the two buildings, he said, calls only for pointing up masonry of City Hall.

He told city officials yesterday the firm has agreed to sandblast City Hall while here for $5,100, adding the cost would be from $8,000 to $9,000 if the firm had to move its equipment back to the city.

Financial arrangements can be worked out with the firm, he said, explaining it could not be met from this year's budget.

Authorization to advertise for the additional work will be asked at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Police, Firemen Ask Rule Changes

The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association has requested several changes in proposed rules posted recently by the Civil Service Commission.

The proposed changes were listed in a letter to the commission, delivered yesterday to Wallace G. Ullery, secretary of the commission.

Filing of the objections followed a special meeting of the police and fire group Thursday night to study the proposed rules and regulations.

To Inspect Naval Unit

The National Naval Reserve Inspection Board, with headquarters in Omaha, Neb., has scheduled an inspection of Naval Reserve Surface Division 5-9 which is stationed at McKaig's Hill Naval Center.

Lt. Cmdr. P. M. Arbogast, commanding officer, said this will be the first inspection of the local by a national board since the organization of the division in 1946.

Commander Arbogast said the local unit has shown improvement in many ways since the annual inspection by the Fifth Naval District team on September 26.

M/Sgt. and Mrs. Wesley C. Hartley

Army Recruiter, German War Bride To Live Here

The local Army recruiting station has been assigned a second recruiter because of the amount of work assigned to this station and the wide area in Maryland and West Virginia it covers.

M/Sgt. Wesley C. Hartley of Essex, Md., a veteran of World War II and the Korean conflict, has been assigned here as recruiter in charge, along with M/Sgt. Virgil Smith, who also will remain as the local area recruiter.

Sgt. Hartley and his wife, Mrs. Anna E. Sicker Hartley, have established residence at 615 Washington Street. They moved here from Clarksburg, W. Va., where he has been on recruiting duty for the past six months.

Mrs. Hartley is a native of Grosspostwitz, Germany, a town in the Russian zone. Her family still resides there. During the war, she managed to escape into the Allied Zone, where she met Sgt. Hartley, then a combat infantryman with the 79th Division. They were married and Sgt. Hartley remained on occupation duty there until 1948 when he was transferred to Japan. Mrs. Hartley accompanied him to Japan, where they remained until 1952.

Sgt. Hartley spent 15 months in Korea where he was assigned to the Korean Military Advisory Group with Headquarters of the First Corps.

He enlisted in the Army August 24, 1944, and is making it his career. He was awarded the combat infantry badge and was decorated with the Bronze Star for exemplary conduct and bravery while under heavy enemy fire.

Mrs. Hartley, a graduate of a German high school, speaks English fluently, and acquired her citizenship papers last March. She likes this country and makes no secret about her feeling of pride and privilege in being an American.

High Court Receives Case

A Mineral County Circuit Court decision involving the conviction of a Cumberland man there has been handed to the West Virginia Court of Appeals in Charleston for review.

The case concerns Ralph Munday, this city, who was convicted on a charge of receiving stolen goods. He was sentenced to one-to-10 years in the State Penitentiary at Moundsville last August.

The Cumberlander asked the West Virginia appellate court to reverse the decision on grounds that the indictment against him for the felony was illegal. Munday said the indictment did not state from whom the goods were received, nor did it identify the goods and determine whether they had been stolen.

Attorneys Joseph A. Blundon and John M. Hamilton of Keyser represents Munday.

ACEI Told 'Creation For Recreation' Is Road To Ulcer-Free, Happy Living

"There's nothing creative about painting by the numbers or copying construction patterns," Theodore R. Foote, supervision of art for the Board of Education told members of the Association for Childhood Education, Allegany County Branch, at a dinner meeting at Frostburg State Teachers College Thursday night.

Foote told his teacher-audience that this kind of art instruction is so standardized it is almost "fascist." Children and adults should learn to create things for themselves if they want healthful, worthwhile hobbies, he declared.

He said people who seek outlets from tension should try some creative hobby and do everything themselves, without trying to equal the professionals or the factory-made products.

The real enjoyment in achievement, he noted, and the real road to happiness and the relief from tension of routine work and daily living can be found in "creation for recreation."

He told of a friend who went to a physician for a diagnosis of a nervous, tense condition, which probably included a bad case of ulcers. The physician asked the man if he had a hobby and the patient said he had a woodshop in his basement.

This patient described how he bought books and followed the patterns and tolerances and measurements as prescribed. He was advised by the physician to throw away the patterns, forget about perfection and create wood objects himself.

Mr. Foote exhibited examples of leatherwork and silver work

Lewis J. Ort To Head S. A. Advisory Board

Annual Meeting Is Planned Jan. 25

Lewis J. Ort was elected president of the Salvation Army Advisory Board yesterday at the board's annual election meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Mr. Ort succeeds William Wendt, who has headed the board for the past year.

Other new officers are Thomas B. Finan, vice president succeeding William Rice; Carl Amtower, re-elected secretary, and Albert Macy, succeeding John Ankeney as treasurer.

Twelve new board members were elected to three-year terms to succeed members whose terms expire at the end of this year.

They are Woodward D. Pealer, Hudson Nix, Duard H. Little, Robert F. Hainsfurther, Robert Garner, C. E. Stutzman, Theodore J. Klauenberg, Stanley Zorick, C. Murray Allen, Earl M. Nonnenmann, Homer S. Higgins and Frank A. Delfinbaugh.

All the new officers and board members will be installed at the board's annual meeting, tentatively scheduled for January 25.

Outgoing officers and board members will be presented certificates at the meeting.

Trial Is Set For Two Men

A criminal information charging Kenneth C. Weicht and Donald R. Weicht, this city, with statutory burglary in the theft property worth $46.75 from a Town Creek cabin was filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

The Weights are scheduled for trial before Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris at 10 a. m. Monday.

Six teen-age boys and the Weights were questioned by the state's attorney's office in a series of burglaries of Town Creek cabins in the Oldtown area.

The Weights are charged with having broken into the cabin of James E. Martin and Paul S. Martin November 5 and having stolen one flashlight, four car-bide lamps, one fishing reel, one box of shotgun shells, three boxes of .22-calibre shells, a box of 100 bird calls, four pocket knives and one fly rod.

Another criminal information filed yesterday charged a local man in a case involving the paternity of a child born out of wedlock.

Investigators blamed the fire on a careless hunter. It burned over about one-and-one-half acres before being brought under control by a crew headed by Forest Guard William Slider and Floyd Custer, superintendent of Green Ridge Forest, and including about 10 boys from the Green Ridge Forestry Camp on Fifteen Mile Creek.

The first district fire during the deer season occurred Tuesday on Heathstone Mountain in Washington County. It, too, was blamed upon a careless hunter and burned five acres. Thomas Dixon, a forest guard, and Curtis Conway, superintendent of Fort Frederick State Park, with local helpers, extinguished the flames.

Johnson reminded hunters to exercise care in the woods today as the deer season comes to a close. The fire hazard is prevalent especially east of Cumberland.

Fraley Gets Six Months, $250 Fine

James Harland Fraley, 20, of 400 Walnut Street, yesterday afternoon was sentenced by Judge Richard C. Snyder in Bedford County (Pa.) Circuit Court to six months in the County Jail and was fined $250 and costs on a conviction of driving while under the influence of alcohol.

A jury deliberated about 90 minutes yesterday morning to find Fraley not guilty of the more serious charge of involuntary manslaughter. However, under a "Scotch verdict" system used in Pennsylvania, Judge Snyder required the local youth to pay the court costs in this case as well as in the one in which he was convicted.

Some 10 witnesses were heard by the jury Thursday before the closing argument was presented. Judge Snyder gave instructions to the jury yesterday morning just before the 12 members began deliberations.

Fraley was indicted last week by the Bedford County grand jury in the death of Sylvester Neiler, 21, of Johnstown, Pa., last August 29. The Pennsylvania was a passenger in Fraley's station wagon which crashed into a tree on U. S. Route 220 about three miles north of Bedford.

Fraley was represented by Attorneys Edward J. Ryan, Cumberland and Frostburg, and Charles Kuntz of Bedford. E. W. VanHorn Jr. was the prosecuting attorney.

Red Cross Asks Local Aid For Hungarians

County Assigned Quota Of $2,630

A goal of $2,630 has been assigned to Allegany County by the American Red Cross as the local chapter's share of a nation-wide emergency fund to aid stricken Hungary.

At a meeting yesterday afternoon in the local Red Cross offices, C. M. Sanner, county chapter chairman, Mrs. George W. Legge, chapter executive secretary and members of the local press and radio, discussed the task of raising this amount of money as quickly as possible.

Mr. Sanner said it is the feeling of members of the Red Cross board and many local people that the "chapter should do its full share to aid the war-torn nation which is making such a courageous bid for freedom."

Already, he noted, the American Red Cross has sent millions of dollars worth of food and clothing and medical supplies into Budapest and other parts of Hungary. Arrangements have been made to step up the program, and all resources of the mercy organization are being mustered in that humane effort.

Only Source of Aid

Here in this county, Mr. Sanner said, "All of us are a long way from Europe and this Russian satellite nation, where hundreds of thousands of good Christian people are striving to break away from the Red yoke and live the lives of freemen at peace with their neighbors. They need our help and thus far at least, the Red Cross is the only agency that has been able to reach them."

He further noted that the annual fund drive of the Red Cross is held in March. He also said that the March of Dimes is scheduled for January and the Heart Fund campaign follows in February. At this time Muscular Dystrophy is concluding its drive and the Tuberculosis Association is selling Christmas seals.

"Everyone knows that fund drives are hard work and are sometimes annoying, so we in the Red Cross hope that our fair share of this desperately needed fund can be raised without an extensive campaign."

"By a direct appeal to all our friends and neighbors... to everyone in the county... through the press and radio, we hope to receive in volunteer contributions enough to reach our assignment."

Frostburg Branch Helping

Mrs. Legge said that a few nominal contributions to the Hungarian relief fund have been received voluntarily without any appeal. The Frostburg Branch this week voted to aid the effort and to make a contribution from surplus funds on hand.

Mrs. Legge expressed the hope and confidence that enough people will mail, send or bring contributions to the Red Cross office in the Post Office Building or to one of the several community branches in the county.

"Not one penny of this money," she promised, "is to be used for administration, postage, campaigning, literature or anything else. Every dollar will be used directly to aid the Hungarian relief program."

Both Mr. Sanner and Mrs. Legge declared that as soon as $2,630 has been received, the drive will be closed, so as not to interfere with any other agency or with the regular annual drive in March. Mr. Sanner added, "We hope to do this job in less than two weeks."
